Gun Violence Restraining Orders (GVRO)

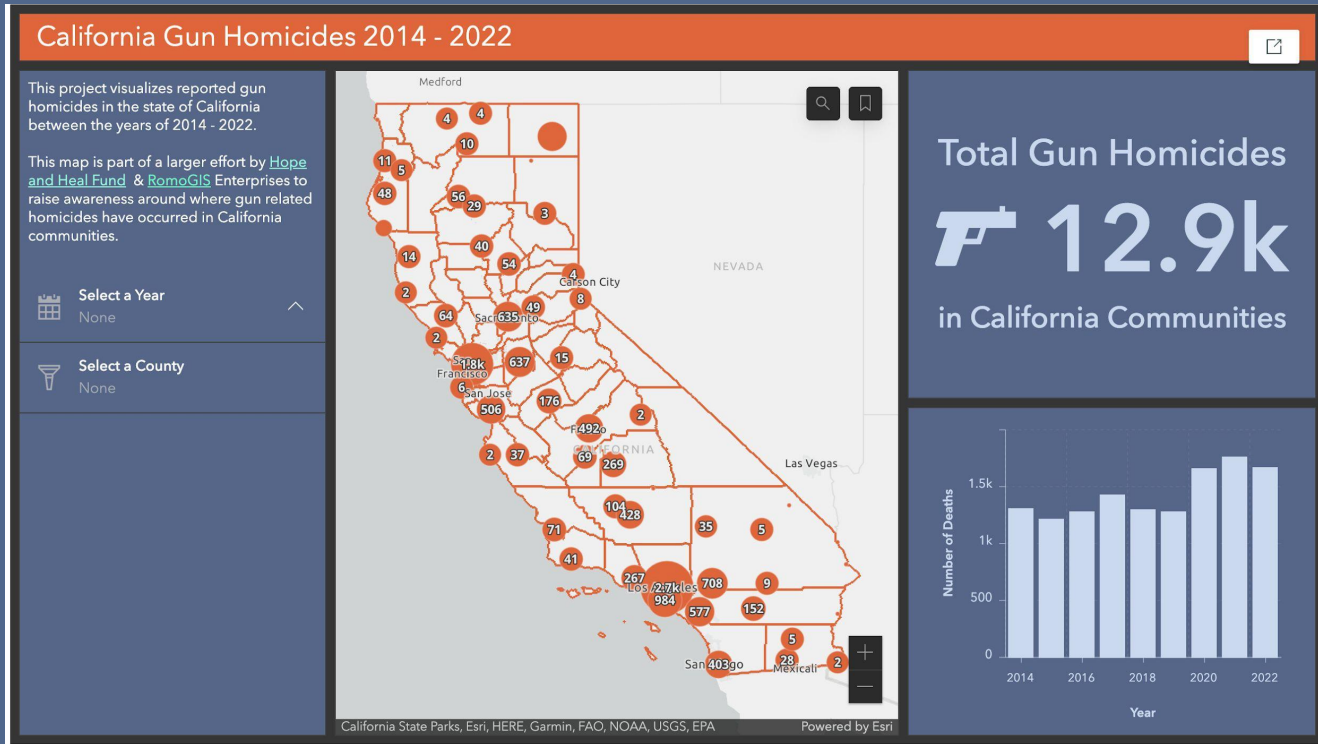

The screenshot shows the website for the Governor's Office of Emergency Services (Cal OES). At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for "About", "News", "Contact Us", a "Select Language" dropdown, and "Settings". Below this is a dark blue banner with the text: "If you or a loved one is actively experiencing a crisis and at imminent risk of self-harm or harm to others, call 911." The main header area includes the Cal OES logo and a navigation menu with items: "HOME", "PREVENT AND PREPARE", "HOW TO RESPOND", "SURVIVOR RESOURCES", "RESOURCE CENTER", and "ABOUT". The main content area features a large illustration of a diverse group of people, including a man in a wheelchair, a woman in a red jacket, and several children. To the right of the illustration, the text reads: "GUN VIOLENCE PREVENTION TOOLS FOR CALIFORNIANS" followed by "Providing California communities and those in crisis the opportunity to safely access help, care and resources to prevent gun violence and firearm suicide." Below this is a blue button labeled "HOW TO PREVENT AND PREPARE". At the bottom left, a section titled "CALIFORNIA LEADS THE NATION IN GUN SAFETY" states: "California has implemented the strongest gun safety laws in the nation, including temporary Gun Violence Restraining Orders, to prevent self-harm and harm to others." At the bottom right, a dark blue box contains a quote from Governor Gavin Newsom: "Our laws have cut gun deaths by half, but we're not stopping there. We're connecting with communities across our state to share life-saving tools with the families and people who need them most."

- The GVRO is a civil procedure that allows family members, household members, and law enforcement to work with courts to temporarily remove guns and prevent the purchase of new guns by individuals who pose a significant risk of harm to themselves or others.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

GUN VIOLENCE RESTRAINING ORDERS
A TOOL TO PREVENT SELF-HARM AND HARM TO OTHERS

Gun Violence is a Preventable Public Health Crisis that Plagues Our Country. Under Governor Gavin Newsom's leadership, California has implemented the strongest gun safety laws in the nation. This includes expanded Gun Violence Restraining Orders, which temporarily stop someone at risk from possessing guns and ammunition while the order is in place.

A Gun Violence Restraining Order is a civil action taken by a local court. The temporary order gives an individual the opportunity to safely access help and care – and potentially stop an act of gun violence or firearm suicide from occurring. It is not considered punishment under the law, and empowering those with the ability to file a request for an order and through education and increased awareness, California can reduce the incidence of gun violence and firearm suicide.

IF YOU OR A LOVED ONE IS ACTIVELY EXPERIENCING A CRISIS AND AT IMMINENT RISK OF SELF-HARM OR HARM TO OTHERS, CALL 911.

Gun Violence Prevention and Medicaid: State of the Field

Date and Time: October 18, 2023, 3:00 - 4:30 pm ET

Gun violence in the United States has reached alarming highs in recent years. Nearly 50,000 people lost their lives to guns in 2021, and guns are now the leading cause of death for children, teens, and young adults across the country. Gun violence also has a disproportionate impact on young Black men — and on people of color in general.

Gun violence's toll is human and financial: about $1 billion is spent each year treating gunshot wounds, more than 50 percent of which is paid by Medicaid. Those who survive shootings bear the medical and psychological complications their entire lives, and consequences reverberate through families and communities. Many victims of gun violence are Medicaid-eligible, yet coordinated hand-offs among Medicaid agencies, health plans, providers, and community-based organizations are often lacking. This inaction at early critical moments often leads to worse outcomes (and increased expense) downstream. But there are emerging, evidence-based ways to address gun violence, most notably hospital-based violence intervention programs (HVIPs).

Gun Violence Prevention and Medicaid: State of the Field

Date and Time: October 18, 2023, 3:00 - 4:30 pm ET

This panel discussion will convene clinicians, practitioners, and community leaders — representing national and local perspectives from Chicago, Connecticut, and Philadelphia — to discuss how the integration of gun violence prevention and Medicaid can create better outcomes for patients, savings for payers and systems, and safer communities.

Leaders in the field of violence prevention, as well as experts in health care and Medicaid, will share concrete examples of work underway, explore strategies for integration, and discuss obstacles and opportunities for progress.

Health care organizations, public policy professionals, community advocates, and other interested stakeholders are invited to join this 90-minute event.
